Holywell and Hartlip Collaboration

Dear Parents/Carers

I am sure that you have heard on the Government and Local Authority agendas, that schools are being increasingly encouraged to work together to share resources and good practice.

I am pleased to advise you that Hartlip School has joined in collaboration with Holywell School. I attach for your information a Memorandum of Understanding that has been established and agreed by the Governing Body of both schools.

Both schools remain as separate establishments, maintaining their own unique identity. Our collaboration provides opportunities for a Community and Church School to share good practice with each other, learn from each other, liaise with each other and look to share resources which, with the ever increasing demands of budgetary constraints, will profit us all.

Last evening, teachers from both schools met to share good practice in writing strategies. Teachers are forming partnerships and you will see and/or hear about an increasing presence of staff visiting each other to learn and share ideas.

We are excited about moving forward in this way.

Yours sincerely

Mrs T Jerome
